International Talent Development

Team

Mission:

- Development of youth cycling talent across Europe
- International collaboration among youth teams

Members & Collaboration

Founded in 2015, 3 youth cycling teams continue their membership with ITD team, a innovatory European cycling alliance. This ITD team will offer more international development opportunities for young cycling talents through international collaboration.

ITD stands for ‘International Talent Development’.

The goal is to offer more possibilities for the young riders of the teams to race abroad and to get new experiences.

The 4 cycling teams are:

- Papillon-Rudyco-Janatrans Cycling Team
- AR&TV De Adelaar
- Club Cycliste Villeneuve Saint Germain Soissons Aisne
- UC Dippach Cycling Team

You can read more about these teams in the following pages. Specialized is supporting this innovative approach.

How does it work?

The clubs will select interesting races in their home country/region (interclub and/or individual races) to which other teams are invited.

Focus is on races for riders in U17 and U19 categories, but can be extended to some selected opportunities for U12, U15 and U23 (if applicable).

Each team can propose riders to come and participate to the race, next to some riders of the home team.

Offer

The new ITD Team concept offers advantages for all parties involved:

- For the rider:
 - Allow youth riders to gain international experience in races, as a development step in their career (performance development)
 - Bigger choice of options, and choose only those who perfectly fit profile and program
 - Have a unique cultural experience, by exchanging cycling passion with other riders and get to know new people in an international context (personal development)
- For the club:
 - This unique collaboration platform is a team asset, in order to retain or attract promising youth riders
 - Efficiency: efficient way of organising international race participation in terms of logistics and cost
 - Flexible: flexible way of participating to youth races with only riders fit for selected races

We are convinced that these new ways of collaboration will support the development of young cycling talents within the participating clubs.
